

Prerequisite courses: none

Grade level: 6-12

Course Description

Students will learn strategies for pre-reading and reading across fiction and non-fiction texts written at third- and fourth-grade reading levels. Skill focuses include fiction elements like plot and setting, as well as nonfiction features like structure and details. Students will also learn critical vocabulary strategies.

This course is part of the Exceptional Students Course Suite, designed for high school students working three or more grade levels behind. The Exceptional Students courses are ideal for students whose IEPs allow them to earn credit for below-grade-level coursework. This particular course, because it addresses content and skills from elementary grades, is also appropriate for middle school students who are behind.

Course Objectives

Students will meet the following goals in this course.

- Identify the setting, plot, conflict and setting of a story.
- Read and reread a story to identify important story elements.
- Identify central ideas and supporting details in an informational text.
- Paraphrase the most important details of an informational text.
- Use context clues to determine the meanings of unknown words.
- Write a personal narrative that has a beginning, a middle, and an end.
- Use reference tools to determine the meanings of unknown words.
- Analyze the purpose of procedural writing.

Student Expectations

This course requires the same level of commitment from students as a traditional classroom course. Students are expected to spend approximately 5–7 hours per week online on:

- interactive lessons, which include a mixture of instructional videos and tasks.
- assignments, in which they apply and extend learning in each lesson.
- assessments, including quizzes, tests, and cumulative exams.

Communication

Teachers will communicate with students regularly through discussions, emails, chats, and system announcements. Students will also communicate with classmates, either via online tools or face to face, to collaborate, ask and answer questions in peer groups, and develop speaking and listening skills.
